

Make Your Own Goat Mask!

Make your very own goat mask! Just follow the instructions below...

What You Need:

- 1 large paper plate per mask
- Cotton balls
- Non-toxic black markers or black crayons
- Scissors
- Stapler
- Glue or glue stick
- String or elastic cord
- Hole punch

What to Do:

1. Cut off the outer rim of the paper plate. Save this ring. It will become the goat's horns.
2. Using the inner portion of the plate, fold in the two sides to make the goat's head so it forms a cone-shape with a flat end (not a point).
3. Turn the plate over, and on the side without the folds, draw eyes, a nose, and mouth with the crayons or markers. Older children can do this themselves, but provide a model to guide them.
4. Glue two or three cotton balls on the chin to make a little beard. Stretch and fluff them out a bit with your fingers.
5. Staple or glue the outer rim of the plate on top of the head to make the horns. The tips of the horns can be curled if you like by wrapping them around your finger before attaching.
6. Cut out the eyes using a hole punch or the sharp scissors point.
7. Attach the cross-string or elastic cord to the mask by making two holes on the far sides of the mask and tying the strings there.
8. Voila – your goat mask is ready to wear!
